

Negro Pupils Stay Home In Sturgis, Ky.

White Students Stage Boycott In Other Areas

By UNITED PRESS

Negro pupils stayed home from a newly integrated high school in Sturgis, Ky., today although national guardsmen stood ready to force their way into class again. The state troops with drawn bayonets pushed through a fist-swing crowd at the school Thursday to get nine Negroes safely into their classrooms. All were absent today but the parents of one child sent word they would be back Monday. A crowd of 500, determined to keep Sturgis High School segregated if possible, assembled on the school grounds before school opened this morning.

NATIONAL GUARDSMEN, bayonets now removed from their guns, stood guard along with state troopers whose 20 cars were parked bumper to bumper at the school.

The National Guard force at Clinton, Tenn., was lowered to about 200 today as the tense situation there eased. Twelve Negro pupils are in Clinton High.

A new segregation development occurred in Georgia today where a white teacher, Mrs. Colleen Marie Wiggins, said she faces ousting from her job because she refused to sign a statement that she does not believe in racial integration.

WHILE MOB VIOLENCE had vanished at most other points along the integration front stretching from Texas to Maryland, a boycott movement against classroom integration appeared to be growing.

At Clinton, Tenn., where guardsmen were called in earlier to quell dangerous demonstrations, more than half of the mixed high school's 800 white students remained away from classes.

Stay Home, Go Anywhere But East Germany—Pretty Girls, Dogs Absent

By JOSEPH FLEMING

United Press Staff Correspondent
LEIPZIG, East Germany (U.P.)—Pretty girls and French poodles, two sure signs of prospering economy in Germany, are absent in the Soviet zone.

East Germany is still rationing beauty along with meat, fat, potatoes, sugar and milk.

Visitors from the West to the 1955 fall Trade Fair here are struck immediately by the contrast between life in Communist East Germany and the West.

East Germany is another world, a drab, colorless ant hill. Shops display wooden wash tubs instead of electric washing machines. People line up to buy apples and peanuts.

COLD STATISTICS disclose that an East German has to work 779 hours to buy a television set, compared with 300 hours in West Germany and about 75 in the United States. It takes 65 hours work to buy a pair of men's shoes here compared with 17 in West Germany.

Pretty girls and poodles are not contained in the economic tables, but they particularly strike a visitor from Berlin. Germans love animals and in West Berlin there are almost as many dogs as people. Most of them are French poodles.

IN LEIPZIG THERE is no need for a dog catcher. You can wander for hours and never see a pooch. There just isn't food enough to feed them.

Also, Berlin has some of the prettiest and best dressed women in Europe in the cafes and boulevards of the Western section. In East Germany they don't exist. Clothes are shoddy and unfashionable. A pair of shoes costs a secretary more than a week's salary.

Adlai to Use School Crisis As Major Issue

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Adlai Stevenson said today he will make the "failure" of the Eisenhower administration to deal with the "school crisis" a major issue of his campaign.

The Democratic presidential candidate, back from a 5,200-mile western swing, said the "total accomplishment" of the Republicans after three and one-half years in office "is a fact-finding conference."

"We already know the facts," Stevenson said. "Our need is not for facts, but action on the facts."

STEVENSON SAID the Democrats have a "good program for dealing with the school crisis," and he regards this as one of the "major" campaign issues.

"We are going to hit it often and hard," he said.

Stevenson returned to Chicago Thursday night from a two-day trip to Los Angeles and San Francisco. He will launch a swing through the East Saturday, with a flight to Springfield, Ill.; Columbus, Ohio, and New York City.

STEVENSON ISSUED a "back to school" statement, saying that "everywhere" he went this week, "the crisis in education has been forcibly impressed upon us."

He said enrollments are at record highs, many children are attending classes on a half-day basis or are being crowded into bigger classes, the nation is short 500,000 classrooms, and the teacher shortage is "at least as serious, probably more serious."

Stevenson also said that one child in five attends a school that is a "firetrap."

He did not elaborate on the program he advocates. However, the Democratic platform promises federal money to help build schools, and for essential school health and safety measures.

Record Number Of Americans Hold Jobs Now

WASHINGTON —The Census Bureau reported today that a record number of Americans held jobs in August for the third straight month.

The total at work was 66,752,000, a gain of about 100,000 over July, the previous all time high, and some 300,000 over June's earlier record.

Unemployment was put at 2,195,000, down 638 from July and the lowest since October, 1955, when the total was 2,131,000. It was also 42,000 below the unemployment total of August a year ago.

Employment ranks are normally swollen during August, particularly by school-age children holding summer jobs. The decline in unemployment in August was about equally divided between teenagers and adults and was one of the largest July-August declines in the postwar period.

The Census Bureau said the decline in joblessness among adults was "somewhat greater" than usual, traceable to "brisk hiring" in manufacturing.

Russia Peace Treaty Breakdown Threatens Jobs of Japanese Leaders

By CHARLES M. McCANN

United Press Staff Correspondent

Japan is likely to be looking around for a new prime minister and a new foreign minister before long.

he jobs of both Premier Ichiro Hatoyama and Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu are threatened because of the recent collapse of peace treaty negotiations with Russia.

he negotiations broke down because Russia refused to restore to Japan the little island of Kuna shiri and Etorofu off the coast of Hokkaido, the northernmost of the Japanese islands.

Hatoyama is considering whether to stake his own post by going to Moscow to try to get the Soviet government to change its mind.

IF HE GOES, and fails in his mission, he undoubtedly will have to resign.

Shigemitsu likely to be forced out anyway. He conducted the treaty negotiations in Moscow which broke down on August 22.

Russia did not subscribe to the peace treaty which the United States and 47 other countries negotiated with Japan at San Francisco in 1951.

Separate Japanese-Russian negotiations were started on June 1, 1955, in London. They dragged on until last March without result. Shigemitsu resumed the negotiations in Moscow on July 31.

THE DISPUTE OVER Kunashiri and Etorofu islands remained the big stumbling block.

The two islands are at the southern end of the Kurile Island chain which Russia occupied at the end of World War II. The Kuriles extend from Russia's Kamchatka peninsula to Japan. Russia holds that Kunashiri and Etorofu are part of the chain. Japan says they are not, that they go with Hokkaido.

The little islands are of no great importance, though they are valuable fishing bases and have some submer mines.

Japan's demand for them is partly a matter of national pride. But the failure of Hatoyama and Shigemitsu to get them has strengthened long-standing opposition to them.

Hatoyama is 73 and partly paralyzed. Shigemitsu is 69. He lost a leg in 1932 when a Korean threw a bomb onto a platform in Shanghai, China, during a celebration by Japanese of Emperor Hirohito's birthday.

Coffee's Pools Reopened for Winter Season

L. W. Coffee's Natural Hot Water Mineral Pools, located in the famed Bath House, opened for the 1956-57 season Saturday, with the pools renovated and with a completely "new look."

The Bath House itself will reopen around Oct. 6. It is being painted, renovated and the second story of the north wing . . . swept by flames in June . . . is being reconstructed and improved.

The entire pool circulatory system has been changed. A pressure system has been installed for a more active circulation of the water in the pools, so that the water's action serves as a gentle, soothing massage, according to Coffee.

The pools have been sandblasted and refinished. In the fire-damaged second story of the north wing, a men's recreation room, containing pool tables and other facilities, will be an innovation in the Bath House. The second story also will contain a sunroom, additional tubs and showers, and a massage room.

All construction work and painting is being done by G. R. Pollock, Inc., of Los Angeles, fire loss construction specialists. Charles "Chuck" Wilt is job superintendent.

Outdoor Living Features L.A. Fair Floral Show

The outdoor living and garden show, a major division of the floral department at the 29th annual Los Angeles County Fair at Pomona, Sept. 14 to 30, will be presented under the title of "The Landscape."

Its purpose is to carry suggestion, information and inspiration to the countless home owners in the Southland, according to President-Manager C. B. Afferbaugh. The landscape architect, contractor, nurseryman, material supplier and gardener join hands in a striking display demonstration of the possibilities for beautification and utilization. Divided into 11 classes, the exhibits will include a wide range of subjects such as plantings, decorations, furniture and accessories. There will be swimming pools, barbecues, rest arbors and many other delightful innovations. The exhibits will be competitive and will carry several thousand dollars in prize awards.

For the flower show proper, the beautiful floral building, erected three years ago at a cost of $250,000, will present a symphony in color from the mass of blooms entered in the many classifications for both amateurs and professionals. Once again the popular amateur flower arrangement competition is expected to draw a large entry list. Because of the number of entries different days have been assigned to different subjects.

Many beautiful, artistic, creations will be entered by florists and floral designers. Victor H. Pinckney, Jr., well-known landscape architect, is again serving as superintendent. Several prominent men in the industry are serving on an advisory committee.

California Dream House Proves 'Good Design Costs No More Than Poor'

It's a proven axiom with decorators and designers "that good design costs no more than poor design," and Art King, president of A.C. King Inc., has gone one step further.

His California Dream House proves that good design, combined with intelligent planning and careful research produces an attractive, well-built, thoroughly acceptable home at a remarkably nominal price.

ALREADY PROVEN in nine California and Nevada cities, the California Dream House has met with almost instantaneous success. Professionals, such as builders, real estate men, lending institutions and the public have enthusiastically endorsed the Dream House. And with good reason, for the California Dream House embodies so many of the features the home buyer wants and looks for in a home.

A clean-low, modern exterior, three or four bedrooms, one or two baths, quality construction throughout, durable and long-lasting materials, functional floor

State of Contrasts

SAN FRANCISCO — California, which has more automobiles registered than any other state, presents quite a contrast in registrations when overall state figures are broken down into counties. Consider, for example, Alpine County's 282 autos to Los Angeles' total—2,328,828.

plans, minimum maintenance problems, sound insulating qualities; all this at reasonable prices. The Dream House has been successful with all these features combined in one "house package."

CONSTRUCTION HAS started locally on the site just east of the eastern city limits by the airport, and it has already met with acceptance.

A. Rubin, local representative reports that 61 homes have been contracted for to date.

Plywood Tests Assure Quality

Fir plywood is cut into small pieces, baked, boiled, dried and then torn apart daily in laboratories in Tacoma, Wash., and Eugene, Ore.

These torture tests are designed to insure consistent high quality of fir plywood and are a part of the Douglas Fir Plywood Association's continuing quality control. Close to half a million specimens from all manufacturers in DFWA are studied each year.

Samples of exterior type fir plywood, the type made with waterproof glue, are boiled for hours, baked bone dry and then boiled again. While still wet, they are put into the vise jaws of a testing machine which tears them apart.

Technicians then look for places where the glue might have failed. The industry's standards require that the wood must separate, but not the glue. In other words, the glue must be stronger than the wood.

The "torture tests" pay big dividends in the continuing high quality of fir plywood.

Beauty of Color Being Realized

More and more home magazines are showing rooms decorated with smaller rugs to allow more of the rich, mellow appearances of the wood floors to set off the color and texture of the rug.

"Why cover this beautiful floor," one western housewife asked? "I like the warm, neutral colors of my west coast hemlock floor and would prefer to let the rug be framed with this lovely flooring"

Room Decor Starts With Neutral Tones

Popularity of wood paneled walls in contemporary residence design is justified, says Keith Woolen, western architect, whose home designs are widely admired.

The subdued pattern of wood such as west coast hemlock, Woolen said, "when used for paneling or interior trim is always interesting and never monotonous. You don't have a wall that is so noisy you soon get tired of it."

The warm, neutral colors of hemlock will not clash with any color, Woolen pointed out. You can use any shade or tone in drapes, wall coverings, floor coverings and furniture, and never worry about conflict with the friendly neutral tones of your wood paneling.

"You can stain hemlock," Woolen observed, "to bring out in stronger relief the soft and interesting patterns of the grain and texture. The great beauty of wood is in its never-duplicated variety of naturally grown tracings of the rings."

"There is an elegance about wood paneling in the home," Woolen said, "that has no relation to price. Even the most modest home can be made to look lovely and not out of character with a judicious use of exposed wood."

PROPERTY LINES

By the Palm Springs Real Estate Board

Warm nights are not unusual in the desert. But this warm night some 10 years ago, was more than just another night; it was very significant. On this night a group of real estate men and women from Palm Springs, Rancho Mirage and the surrounding area, met with a vital chap in a large room at Palm Village. The man had an idea he wished to delineate to the real estate profession in this area.

As soon as Cliff Henderson started to talk it was evident that the idea he carried in mind was not a light one. Elevations, and projected landscapes appeared on an easel. A magnificent club building, a lake in the desert, were a couple of artistic conceptions shown.

TODAY, THE MANIFESTATION of this idea is the famed Palm Desert, and the headlines have proclaimed the transferring of Palm Desert into the capable hands of Ronald Button, well known desert developer, James Stewart, actor and developer, "Dutch" Kindelberger, noted aviation leader and executive.

This is gratifying, for these men have the progressive spirit to carry out the vision that was originally Cliff Henderson's.

There is a great future here in our desert area. There were people that had faith in this future 10 years ago; and their faith has been justified. The men of vision who have faith enough in our desert area to invest millions in its future will also have their faith justified.

TEN YEARS HENCE there will be people who may still say "I could have bought this or that for so and so much less than 10 years ago." But these men of vision, expressing their faith in the desert will be making money while making history.

Speaking of vision, credit should be given to local Realtor Muriel Fulton; who conceived the idea of transferring the ownership of Palm Desert, about 18 months ago. After these many months of hard work the idea crystallized and Palm Desert had new owners. The Board offers its congratulations on a job well done.

And that friends, is escrow for today.

Jack Meiselman, Gannon Express 'Fall' Optimism

George Gannon of the Gannon Realty Company and Jack Meiselman of the Jack Meiselman Enterprises today joined in a statement of optimism concerning the fall real estate.

"We feel that the demand for new homes here will far exceed the supply. Our building program during the summer months has been geared to this demand. As a result we have under way the completion of 19 new homes ready for the ensuing season, declared Gannon and Meiselman. "Many of these homes have been contracted for and the new owners have indicated immediate occupancy."

Optimism and faith in the future of Palm Springs have always keyed the relationship of the outstanding developments of both this outstanding realty firm and builder-developer team.

For over the past three years Jack Meiselman and his enterprises have built and the Gannon Realty Company has sold nearly 200 new homes. Low down payments and long-term financing has enabled both the builder, Meiselman, and the sales agents, Gannon Realty Company, to make possible home ownership where such would not have been possible.

Plans for future developments are well along on the drawing boards, declared Meiselman. In conjunction with the Meiselman Enterprises the Gannon Realty Company will shortly announce new expansion programs to keep abreast of the strong growth that Palm Springs is experiencing.

Proper Lighting Eases Tasks For Housewives

A dream kitchen on a budget is within every homemaker's reach—and you don't necessarily need the latest automatic range, refrigerator, freezer, or dishwasher to do it.

All you do need is a few better lighting principles, and about $30 or $40 for fixtures to put the principles into action as a part of your own "Operation Home Improvement."

"STUDIES SHOW that better kitchen lighting makes kitchen tasks easier, and takes less physical and nervous energy from the homemaker," according to the American Home Lighting Institute, Chicago, trade association of fixture makers.

"For maximum efficiency, there should be fixture light over every important work area in the kitchen—sink, range, and work counters—in addition to a ceiling fixture," the Institute said.

In addition to eliminating the frustration and irritation that go along with working in a badly lighted kitchen, good fixture lighting helps decorate the room, and makes it a more cheerful place.

Coachella Valley Savings Starts In New Offices

Coachella Valley Savings and Loan Association this week started conducting business in its new headquarters at 333 South Palm Canyon Drive.

The first loan in the new building—with its modern paneled loan offices—was made by Jack Meiselman, local builder, for a model home to be constructed on his new tract development, Palm Lane.

The first escrow opened in the modern escrow department was placed by Graham Dexter, of the Murphy Realty Company, who had sold a new home for $13,500.

The first new savings account customer was Ferris Wheeler of Palm Desert who already had opened an escrow for the purchase of a home, and who came to transfer funds to Coachella Valley Savings and Loan.

The first child's account opened was for Joseph and Susie Marin of Palm Springs.

Cook Anywhere With Rotisserie

The table broiler or rotisserie has become, in a few short years the most wanted piece of kitchen equipment, and never does it need to go near the kitchen. Hostesses have found that they can cook in the living room, dining room, play room or patio and that their guests will love it.

The table broiler is the next best thing to a charcoal grill in the summer time and a much better thing in winter. It's a lot easier than building the proper charcoal fire, and much less tricky to cook with. You may get as heavy a "char" as your taste dictates. Another advantage is that it doesn't heat up the area.

There are many different types of rotisseries on the market—some amazingly inexpensive, none high-priced. Some have griddles on top and some have timers.

If you want rare meat, turn the heat high and cook as close to this heat as possible, at least until it is charred to your taste.

On the other hand, if the meat is something that requires a long slow cooking process like spare ribs, have both the heat and the broiler pan as low as possible. Sometimes it is advisable to start close to the element and then lower the pan later.

ARE WE BUYING ELECTIONS?

(St. Louis Globe-Democrat)

The costs of major political campaigns have ballooned so extravagantly, the nation has cause for deep worry.

So much cash is now required to flesh up a bid to national office, the country gets closer and closer to the prospect of bought elections. A candidate almost has to spend a millionaire's ransom to lose with dignity.

Four years ago the Republican party calculated it spent $13,800,000 to elect Dwight D. Eisenhower and a GOP Congress. Democrats admitted spending $6,200,000, and minorities, principally labor groups, used another reported $3,000,000. That is only what was admitted. It was a slim fraction of what actually went into campaign maws. Political experts put the aggregate of '52 electioneering expenditures at upward of $140,000,000.

It is going to be a whale of a lot more this year! Newsweek Magazine offers a reasoned guess the overall campaign tab will run to $200,000,000!

This forecast is probably not far off. Such a glittering bid for votes would be the price for election of some 270,000 officials—but most of it would go for national office candidates.

New methods have come into the picture and all other expenses have shot up enormously. TV is the greatest innovation in campaigning that ever hit the political scene. Its intimate mass communication facilities can't be slighted.

Certainly its costs aren't slight either. Democrats and Republicans expect to spend $3,000,000 per party on network time alone. More millions on local stations. A half hour on an evening network demands political sponsors plunk down $50,000 to $100,000. Just a 60-second spot announcement on a little station takes $30 or $40.

In addition, newspaper ads, billboards, sound trucks, even the plastic campaign buttons cost more. And the usual payoff is demanded by precinct workers, will be dispensed by the party subalterns, or perhaps bagmen.

These multi-millions come from many sources. But not enough! The GOP took in some $5,000,000 from $100-a-plate dinners around the nation. Solicitation will be made among rank and file of both parties. But the rank and file generally devies up precious little. In that lies expanding hazard to the democratic system.

The whole lush campaign apparatus eats up such chunks of money rich men and special interests, including labor, will increasingly be called to the aid of their party.

As their donations grow, through various legal stratagems, the influence of the average citizen in government shrinks. The little fellow is willing to let big-money men sugar up political chests, as long as he doesn't have to dig in his pocket much or at all.

This is bad. It is shortsighted. No matter how incorruptible our officials, it is difficult or impossible to neglect friends who have helped generously during campaigns. Without realizing it, or only with a vague understanding the nation is in jeopardy of watching while its elections are, in effect, being sold down a river of excessive campaign costs.

There may not be pat solution. There are ways that can bridle this mounting problem, ways that have not been tried. Fixing ceilings on contributions and election costs has done small good. Perhaps shortening the time of campaigns, as is done in England, would help. Income tax deductions for campaign gifts would be intelligent.

If the trend toward fantastic campaign costs continues, almost inevitably elections will be purchased in America. Possibly the costs of national campaigns like the costs of government ought to be borne by all members of the electorate, through some kind of national subsidy, if our democracy is to remain a political system of and by the people.

CHOOSING CANDIDATES

(McMinnville (Tennessee) Southern Standard)

... We feel the voter should choose his candidates in a manner similar to the way a businessman would hire an important employee. Among all the applicants for the job, the businessman seeks to choose the man he feels is best qualified for the job.

Government is similar to business, in reality it is the biggest business in the world. As a voter we suggest you study the candidates carefully and vote for the man you judge best qualified for the job he is seeking. You have a big stake in this business of government. And it is of vital importance to select carefully the people you want to run this business for you.

DIFFERENT DEFINITION

(Mobridge (S. Dak.) Tribune)

To Grandmother, junket was a dish of curds and cream, which developed into Mother's concoction of milk and rennet. But to the modern generation, it refers only to a pleasure trip at public expense. You don't have to be a Congressman to go on a junket, but it helps. Of course that isn't as true in an election year, as can be easily learned by comparing last year's number of Congressional tourists with those who will spend the late summer and fall of 1956 in their home states.

POLITICAL AIR

(Ed Erard in Kingsville (Texas) Record)

Well, the solar-heated air of Texas is getting a temperature boost from the politicians who are panting their hearts out and sweating their hides to a pulp in the stampede for the public feed trough.

It's hard to understand how Democratic brethren, conceived in the idealism of Jefferson and baptized in the blood of Jackson can hold such low opinions of each other—now if half of them were of the devilish and depraved Republican persuasion, it would be understandable. . . .

STILL IN BUSINESS

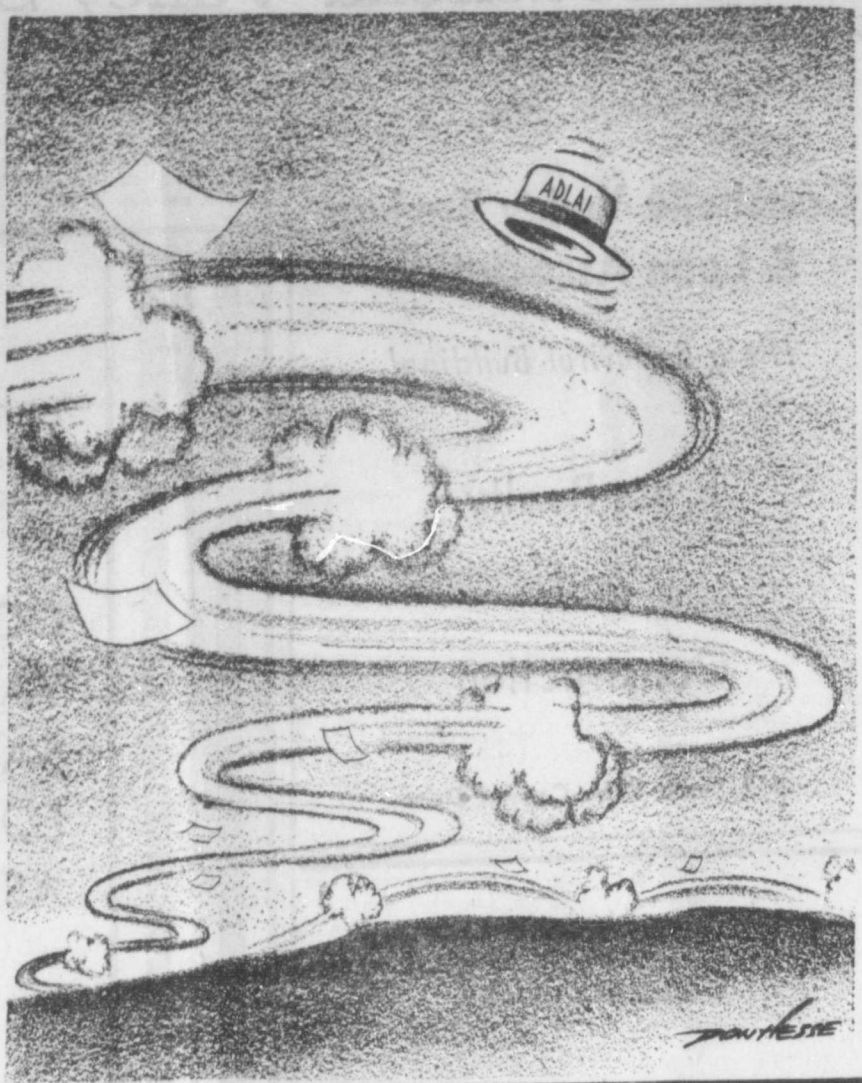

(Pointe Coupe Banner)

The government is still going into business—and on a big scale.

Example: by a 41-38 vote the Senate approved federal construction of 135,000 public housing units each year for four years. That amounts to about half of one year's total residential construction in this country. By its action, the Senate rejected a Presidential proposal that the program be restricted to 35,000 housing units for each two years.

Will tell us soon

They're planting a lawn.

Of course, that is beating the gun a bit. The Autumnal Equinox won't be with us until September 22 at 4:56 P.D.T. And they don't sow the seed or scatter Coral No. 5 until a bit later.

But here in Palm Springs the lawn-planting season is as sure an indication of fall as the burning leaves of the east and mid-west.

Only it doesn't smell as pretty.

HOW ARE WE DOING on that plan so vigorously discussed a few years ago—the one whereby we get green grass without the accompanying scent and resultant flies? Not that the smell brings the flies.

Sam Levin of the Biltmore gets his lawn in without causing a wrinkled nostril. And no demand for fly swatters.

It's only the start of September, overlooking the few days already beyond recall, and a good time to look now instead of sniffing later.

CHECKING OUT at a supermarket I was fourth in line with my lone can of beans. First were two elderly women with carts laden with groceries et cetera. Then a younger man leading a little boy by the hand. Like me he had but one item.

The little boy was jumping up and down.

"You'll have to wait a while," whispered the man.

"No, Daddy, NOW," wailed the youngster in a voice heard all over the store.

It looked like a crisis. But the two elderly women with the laden carriers understood. Probably both had grandsons. Obligingly, they stepped aside and the checker rushed the man through. Last seen he and the boy were scurrying for the parking lot while the two women beamed and expressed the hope their gesture had been in time.

SPEAKING of kindly elderly women reminds me of another incident concerning a delightful lady in her 80's. She is still spry although depending on a cane when getting around.

She is of that bygone generation in which the distaff side of the family led a cloistered life, protected from such things as abrupt words.

But she has a grandson and some grand-nephews who are of the modern world. They do not beat about the bush.

INNOCENTLY, she acquired some of their more uncouth expressions, thereby causing great consternation when she engaged a group of teenagers who needed spending money, to clean up a vacant lot she owned.

Rallying them around her in a circle, much as a football coach on opening day of practice, she addressed them and outlined what she wanted. Finished with her program, she said brightly:

"Now, boys, put your shoulders to the wheel and your noses to the grindstone and get all of that out of here."

And when they recovered, they did.

EARL WILSON:

Joe E. Lewis Enters Politics

LAS VEGAS—In this incredible city where the disciples of Nick, the Greek bet thousands on one play, there are still those who bet nickels. One of them is my beautiful wife who trots around with a dixie cup full of the nickels she's won. Alan Gordon, the young Los Angeles tycoon, nicknamed her "Nickels the Greek."

Joe E. Lewis is winding up a long engagement at El Rancho Vegas and heading for the Copacabana in New York where he'll also enter labor politics. "I'm in an A.F. of L.—American Federation of Lushes," Joe explains. "And now, ladies and gentlemen," he says from the stage, "I'd like you to meet John, one of our captains. He's so popular here, they named a room for him."

Strip-teaser Lili St. Cyr, on the same bill with Joe, bared one of her eccentricities for me. (Don't read that wrong, now.) Lili says she hides her money at night inside her pillow and then usually forgets about it next morning. Several times when touring, she's had to drive back to a hotel she's left to hunt the forgotten loot. She and Ted Jordan, her new husband, are sailing Friday on the Coronian for a three-months look at Europe. She wants to get away from the old grind (and bumps) for a while.

SUE CARSON—who's in the Peggy Lee show at the Sands—is the brightest new comedienne in America. New York should grab her fast.

One of her routines describes the wolves' various approaches. "When a man kisses me on the hand," she says, "It mixes me up. I wonder if my mouth is dirty." Then she tells of the poverty-stricken psychiatrist whose wife went to the living room and found the couch was bare. "But it was all right," Sue says, "the psychiatrist had put away a few nuts for the winter."

Mickey Rooney's grown up every way but physically and has a funny act with Joey Foreman and Dick Winslow on the Roberta Sherwood bill at the New Frontier—but he's not too happy about it. "It keeps me up," he says. "I like to go to bed at 7:30 or 8. That's why I can't get interested in going to New York to do a Broadway show."

In Las Vegas, of course, the bedtime is also 7:30 or 8 . . . but a.m. instead of p.m. Mickey last played in New York, his home town, before he entered the Army, at the Capitol Theater. A friend who remembered that gasped, "And now, Mickey, you don't look a day taller."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N.Y.

Frank Sinatra's father, just retired, says he'll sell his N.J. property and move to Calif., "to be near my grandchildren." . . . Marion Marlowe's the latest possibility for the Helen Morgan film bio . . . Comedian Jack ("Mr. Wonderful") Carter's black eye came from bumping into a microphone, he reports. . . . Julie Wilson switched back to brunet at the request of the "Pajama Game" producers.

Joanne Dru and John Ireland, who battled bitterly a month ago, did the champagne-and-kisses bit at Toots Shor's . . . Artie Shaw's romantic letters (from Spain) are to Paramount actress Valerie Allen . . . Both Ed Sullivan and Steve Allen are offering heavy loot for a Monroe personal appearance on their TV's . . . Lewis Strauss, AEC chief, may resign before election day . . . Al Segal who helped Ethel Merman to stardom, has a new protégé singer—Loretta Wayne.

Columbia Pictures will make "Plain and Fancy" . . . Mrs. Joe Louis persuaded the ex-champ to reject a $20,000-a-year job hosting at the Bowlero bowling alley; too many "late hours" . . . Red Skelton Wants Rocky Marciano for a TV show to do . . . Anna Magnani wants to do the film version of "Best House in Naples," opening on B'way soon . . . Think YOU got troubles? Farouk has a million in lawsuits pending against him.

EARL'S PEARLS . . .

LeRoy Allman recalls this truism: "The best way to tell if a man is having a good time at a party is to watch his wife."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Most summer romances are ended either by September or marriage." —Margaret Puchir, Columbus.

TODAY'S WORST PUN: Hal March and his wife vacationed at a resort hotel and Jimmy Komack hears the towels were marked "Quiz" and "Hers."

Just heard that Western Week which has been the opening Winter event here for 12 years will have no sponsoring organization for the 13th annual Western Week during the month of October.

It is the considered opinion of many that Western Week is just as important at the beginning of our Winter Season as Circus Week is supposed to be at the closing.

At a meeting held Tuesday members of Los Compadres voted not to sponsor the event next month.

WESTERN WEEK has always earned money for the Los Compadres with the exception of one or two years. But with its staging, a tremendous amount of work is necessary. And as the town has grown the work load in order to stage a colorful event has become more strenuous.

The main complaint on the part of members of the Los Compadres is the lack of support on the part of merchants and hotel keepers. By support it is no doubt meant financial assistance. At the same time as the years have gone on, the membership of the Los Compadres, I am informed, has dwindled to about 50 or 60 members. Of that number, less than a third take an active part in the multitude of many duties that befall a sponsoring organization.

Anita Haskell Jones as chairman last year did a tremendous job. She worked herself into a frazzle and I believe actually lost weight through nervous exhaustion. The Los Compadres made money as a result. Of course, she was aided by a handful of the members, but with the end of the event which lasts for about three days, Anita Haskell Jones never received the acclaim and gratulations from a community to which she was entitled.

AT THE SAME TIME there is no doubt that many merchants and hotel keepers profited from the event. It is now the responsibility of Palm Springs, and this community should be aided by persons in Cathedral City, Rancho Mirage and Palm Desert.

It should be a mammoth project and colorful in the extreme. The publicity Palm Springs and surrounding communities receive is invaluable. It could not be purchased for thousands of dollars. Jimmy Cooper, executive secretary and manager of the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce, believes that Western Week should not be abandoned by the City of Palm Springs. It has been a traditional event since 1944 and should continue.

I believe that the Chamber of Commerce, the Retail Merchants Association and the Hotel and Apartment Association should immediately move to keep Western Week rolling into the years. It is the last and slender line we have left with the Western atmosphere of this community for which it has been known for years and years.

A LITTLE MORE THAN four years ago afire with the idea that Western Week should be a community-wide endeavor yours truly entreated several of our leading merchants and civic workers to meet at the Chi Chi to discuss that possibility. No one knew what I planned to talk about and all were there except me. I was busy in Banning covering a fire which threatened that city for a time.

Since then and especially during the past two years I feared that the Los Compadres for reasons stated above would be forced to give up the sponsorship of Western Week which originated with that organization. Among the members who dreamed up the event were Jimmy Cooper, Joe Butler and one or two others whom I do not recall at this time.

Personally believe that if a committee of businessmen took over the sponsorship of Western Week sufficient money should be raised to employ a person to devote her or his entire time to Western Week. It is asking too much of any businessman to take time from his business to undertake such a gigantic spectacle.

THE DISCUSSION MUST have been a serious one because at noon the group was lunching in the Chi Chi and later all of them were gathered around a table in the Garden Room of the Biltmore. Included were Charles Farrell, Mayor Florian Boyd, Harold Hicks, Fred Ingram, vice president of the Bank of America and just returned from a summer vacation, and Sherman Hull. On the other hand, it may just have been a gathering of good fellows.

Former motion picture actress Eve Norman and her Argentine singer-husband Oscar Del Valle will open the Argentine Steak House at 466 North Palm Canyon. The first meals will be served Saturday morning. Oscar will prepare all the steaks a la Argentine and Eve will use, she says, "guarded family recipes for sauerbraten and German potato pancakes. Could very well be a treat with a mixture of the Latin from down Argentine way and a bit of the Rhine in Europe. Lots of luck, people.

HOLLYWOOD — Jane Wyman likes to appear pretty and youthful on the motion picture or television screen, but she finds that selecting the better roles often means she has to play parts of women in their 50's.

The immediate result is that she frequently hunts for roles about middle-aged women. The next result is that she finds herself observing women in their middle years to learn their characteristics and mannerisms.

"I watch every older woman I see—on the street, in restaurants, in stores—wherever I happen to be," Miss Wyman said. "I'll find that I have a few spare minutes, and I start observing."

"THERE ARE MANY WAYS in which women give away their age," she said. "I guess the most important is the way they walk. There's no spring in their step. They pick up their feet slowly—almost as if their feet were in wet cement. The effect is nearly a waddle."

A second giveaway is in hand-fiddling, Miss Wyman said. There is a tendency present in many women in their middle years to fiddle with their hands when they are sitting still. She compares the hands to mice which crawl all over—the elbows, hair, face—or alternately clasp each other and then loosen.

"On the business of walking, I think a woman can help conceal her true age by practicing walking rapidly and standing erect," she said. "It should look as if it's a pleasure for her to be on her feet. And as far as the hands go—well, the younger woman or the serene matron keeps her hands in her lap. She possesses them—they don't possess her."

MISS WYMAN, who starts her second season this fall on NBC-TV, admits going out of her way to look for good parts, even if she does have to be "aged" a decade or two. But she doesn't want to give the idea all her shows will be about women of 50-plus.

"That's the fun of doing an anthology or varied series," she said. "Just the other week I played a carnival performer and wore black mesh hose and tights. I like to look nice on the screen—I'm only human, I guess—but to me it's far more important that I have good roles."

"And, of course, if the woman in the story is 55, I'm not going to look like an ingenue when I play the part."

FROM READERS DIGEST

I was lunching at a drugstore counter when a pretty girl followed by a handsome young man came in and took the only vacant stools, which happened to be on either side of me. I turned to the young man and offered to change seats so they might sit together. "Oh, that isn't necessary," he protested, but I waved him to silence. After we had exchanged seats he turned to the young lady and in a loud voice announced, "Well, now that the seating arrangements suit this polite gentleman, we might as well make him real happy and get acquainted."

At an eight-year-old's birthday party, the adults rushed around frantically keeping the party going—organizing games, treasure hunts and races. In the midst of the confusion, one little boy asked: "When this is all over, can we play?"

Advices Women to Drink More Milk

Everybody knows milk is a wholesome food, but women trying to lose cumbersome pounds, as well as nursing mothers, should include more of it in their diets.

That's the advice from University of Illinois dietetics specialist Harriet Barto, who says nursing mothers need at least six cups daily, and expectant mothers at least four.

And milk, for those with the extra pounds, is no "fattening food," the specialist said. Most diets of meat contain two or three times as much fat as a cup of milk.

The high calcium content of milk is important, along with the high protein content, Miss Barto added.

Traditional Kitchen Has Advantages

By GAY PAULEY United Press Staff Correspondent

SCARBOROUGH, N.Y. — One industrial designer says that some of those kitchens of grandma's day weren't so old-fashioned after all. Time and steps would be saved by bringing back some of their features.

So says Edwin C. Walton, a one-time aircraft designer and now industrial design consultant. He became an amateur kitchen expert when he, his wife and two children moved into a 35-year-old house they purchased here in the Hudson Valley.

Take the old-fashioned pantry. Walton says it is a godsend to most cooks, although he cautioned against installing shelves too deep or storage areas too high.

Or, the old-fashioned frying pan. Walton said his kitchen is stocked with several, in preference to a fancy grill.

"The frying pan is so easy to wash," he said.

Don't get the idea the Waltons aren't hep to modern appliances and methods. Walton said he made time-motion studies of virtually every kitchen task before he went to work on actual re-design. And the couple installed the most modern of equipment. But the touch of the old is there, too, in the pantry, in the provincial wallpaper (sprayed with a plastic coating for easy maintenance), in the polished birch cabinets (which need only a once-a-year waxing) and the breakfast room paneling.

The kitchen was one including in a "country kitchen tour" of Westchester County homes, sponsored by the Mills College Club of New York. Mills, located in Oakland, Calif., is the oldest women's college west of the Mississippi.

The Waltons said that, like most home-owners, they wanted the kitchen to provide the maximum of efficiency with a minimum of work. It also had to look pretty.

Before they decided what went where in the 16 by 19-foot area, they charted the steps and stooping necessary to prepare everything from ham and eggs to a seven-course meal.

The result is a kitchen, in which Walton figures his wife saves at least 30 minutes a day in meal preparation and cleanup.

"Add those minutes up over the years, and she's been saved a lot of time," said the engineer.

Some of the highlights of the kitchen:

It is fully electric. A stainless steel hood is just above the cooking surface, "why build one near the ceiling," said Walton. "You aren't preventing splash and soil from cooking that way."

Two ovens are built in the wall. Cabinet doors have magnetic closings so that they shut with a mere touch of the hand. Formica tops of counters are in a tweedy pattern to show less soil; a spatter pattern is in the linoleum for the same reason. Individual lighting is provided for each work area. Pots and pans are stored directly beneath the cooking surface, and on open shelves to cut the time used in getting them out. The kitchen has garbage disposal and dishwasher, and the dish storage cabinet is right beside the dishwasher.

Walton said the kitchen now is five years old and "if we had it to plan over, we wouldn't change even so much as a light switch."

Home From Trip Mr. and Mrs. Joe Henderson and four children, of 4 Warm Sands Place, have returned from a combination vacation and business trip to San Luis Obispo. While Joe acted as baby sitter, Mrs. Henderson attended the seventh annual California physical education workshop for women in secondary schools held at California State Polytechnic College in that city.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

AXYDLBAAXR is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Supervisors Approve Cahuilla Road Name Change, Then Hold Up Action

Upsetting a favorable decision by the board of supervisors following a scheduled hearing on a proposed name change for Cahuilla Road in the Anza-Cahuilla-Aguanga area to Anza-Cahuilla Road, William McGrew of Cahuilla, ar-change was Clarence Washburn of Indio, long active in the Coachella Valley-to-Ocean Highway Association which has sponsored a movement to get an improved highway in operation of which the Cahuilla Road would be a part, and which also requested the name change.

He said the first proposal to call it the Anza-Cahuilla Cut-Off had been dropped. Since no one was on hand at the time to speak up against the proposal, the hearing was closed and the board instructed county counsel to prepare a resolution to effect the change.

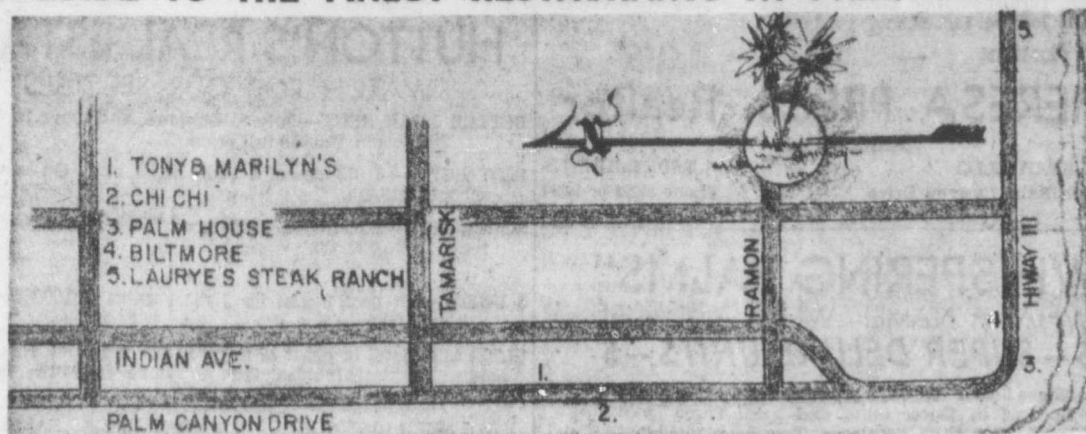

IT WAS DECIDED after listening to McGrew to hold up adoption of the resolution until after October when Supervisor Fred C. Call now on a trip to Europe is expected to return, since the road is located in his district.

"THE PEOPLE OF ANZA feel that the name 'Anza' should be in the road name, and others feel that the Indian name 'Cahuilla' should be maintained," said Washburn. "We ended up with the combination name, Anza-Cahuilla."

NORTH PALM SPRINGS

By ORPHA GEIER

New residents of North Palm Springs are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Caldera and their family, from Thousand Palms, who have purchased the R. B. Whitte house on Louise Avenue. Mr. Caldera is foreman for the Rancho Ramon Water Company.

Mr. Whitte, who has been occupying the former Judge Benwell home, is moving to his ranch on East Dillon Road. Joining him over the weekend were his wife and daughters, Dorothy and Mabel, and granddaughter, Carole, of Santa Monica.

Visiting Jess McKay, who is doing construction work in Desert Hot Springs as well as building his own home on Estrella Avenue, were his wife, Lois, who has a dress shop in Ontario, and his brother and sister-in-law, Mac and Helen McKay, who are with General Electric there.

While here the group enjoyed the desert and the pools very much and plan on coming out again soon. Jess accompanied them back to the coast and will bring out a load of building supplies.

Georgia Goforth is home from a vacation in Decatur, Griggsville and Taylorville, Illinois, and Hannibal, Missouri, where she has been visiting relatives and friends for the past three weeks.

Rumors are apparently well-founded that there is a strong possibility of a local Boy Scout unit in NPS this winter. Scout Chairman Bill Hanson assures us that the District Council is encouraging expansion of Scouting to neighborhoods such as this.

Bob Irwin, who has been spending the summer in San Diego, was out for the holiday weekend. Bob will be back to stay after October 1.

Marvin Yager was out to the desert for a few days last week. Marvin, who made his home here for several years and who is a graduate of Palm Springs High School, has spent the summer in the San Fernando Valley, and will enter college soon at the University of California at Berkeley.

Art and May Branch, who formerly lived at the O. Hagen place on Dillon Road, are back to the desert for the season, after having spent the last six months in Oakridge, Oregon.

May is playing her third return engagement at the Round-up Club in Twenty-nine Palms. The Branches plan on establishing a home in North Palm Springs, where May will teach the Hammond organ.

Mary G. Hillsten, who formerly conducted a music studio here, was an NPS visitor recently. Mrs. Hillsten, now recovered from a serious fall, makes her home and is teaching in West Covina.

While here Mrs. Hillsten called on some of her former pupils, including Sandra Futrell and Suzanne Briggs. Accompanying her on her visit were Mr. Hillsten, Mr. and Mrs. King of Alhambra, and Margaret Neuben of Catalina Island.

Jewelry Box Taken

Police today are investigating the theft of a box from the Casa de Leon Shop in the Plaza which contained a reported $118 worth of costume jewelry. The theft was reported by Leon Fielding, owner of the business.

Nest Egg Bars Relief

WATERBURY, Conn. — The Waterbury Welfare Department turned down an application for relief when it was discovered the applicant had $25,000 in a bank.

Newport Ends Water Rationing

NEWPORT BEACH — Voluntary water rationing has ended here, but City Manager Robert Shelton has warned residents not to waste water by allowing it to run in the streets from lawns and gardens.

Shelton called an end Wednesday to the voluntary water rationing plan started in the middle of July when the city's water supply dipped to a dangerous low.

He said that the normal drop in population in the city after Labor Day and the maximum storage maintained by the Metropolitan Water District resulted in the end of the rationing.

$12, Wallet Lost

Palm Springs police Sunday received a report from Gary Danielson of the loss of a brown leather wallet containing $12 and identification cards.

TODAY'S SPORTS PARADE

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Trying to get there fastest with the gridiron mostest, Fearless Fraley's pre-season All America football team for 1956.

Most of these guys, because of a fine mixture of power and publicity, seem to be almost sureshots to grab collegiate honors this season. They've all got the stuff provided they soak up enough print.

One of them probably won't, namely tackle Don Owens of Mississippi Southern, while the other one, a "sleeper" who will crack a lot of headlines, is end Lamar Lundy of Purdue.

ASIDE FROM THOSE two the choices figure to be generally universal with a team composed of:

Ends, Lundy and Ron Kramer of Michigan; tackles, Owens and Earl Leggett of LSU; guards, Mike Sandusky of Maryland and Jim Parker of Ohio State; center, Jerry Tubbs, Oklahoma; backs, Paul Hornung of Notre Dame, Clarence Peaks of Michigan State, Jim Swink of TCU and Tom McDonald of Oklahoma.

The second team shapes up here as: Ends, Tom Maentz, Michigan, and Joe Walton, Pitt; tackles, Norm Hamilton, TCU, and John Witte, Oregon State; guards, Bill Yelverton, Mississippi, and Denny Gehring, Texas A&M; center, Wilson Whitmore, Navy; backs, Len Dawson, Purdue; Paige Cothren, Mississippi; Walt Kowalczyk, Michigan State, and Jim Brown, Syracuse.

KRAMER MAY DO double duty this year as both an end and a back but the six-foot, three-inch 222-pounder can play part time and still be my guy. Lundy, six-foot, six inches and 225 pounds, could be the big man of the Big 10 at wing.

Leggett, the six-foot, three-inch 265-pounder, is tabbed by the New York pro Giants as the best line-man in college football—and the pros are the ones who also put the finger on the six-foot, six-inch 250-pound Owens.

Sandusky, the 240-pound Atlantic Coast Conference wrestling champ, is a human tank and the six-foot, three-inch, 250-pound Parker makes a great running mate.

AT CENTER, TUBBS is a six-foot, two-inch boncrusher who stands out as the pivot man of the year.

In the backfield, McDonald is only 170 pounds but he'll spearhead Oklahoma to another national championship. Hornung is the Notre Dame sparkplug and Swink is one of the finest runners to appear on the collegiate scene in years. Peaks gets the nod over Kowalczyk, his teammate, but the competition makes Coach Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State very happy.

All in all, this is the kind of a team which would make any coach happy—even a pro coach. Because with this outfit you could take a pro franchise, and it's a dead cinch you wouldn't finish last.

The state of Kansas is almost a perfect rectangle, 411 miles long and 208 miles wide. The only irregularity is the northeast corner where the boundary is determined by the winding Missouri River.

Rams Rated TD Better Than Cards

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Coach Sid Gillman's Los Angeles Rams assume the role of slight favorites tonight against the Chicago Cardinals in an exhibition football clash at Memorial Coliseum.

Both clubs have won only one of three pre-season games. The Rams, however, have been tabbed as seven point favorites.

Only some 24,000 fans are expected to witness the game. If the prediction proves correct, it will be one of the smallest home-town attendances for a pro game in 11 years.

Gillman selected Billy Wade to open at quarterback. It was Wade who sparked the Rams to their only win so far, a 17-6 victory over the Cleveland Browns on the same turf.

Joining him in the backfield will be rookie fullback Joe Marconi, and halfbacks Ron Waller and Ron Miller.

Former Arkansas star Lamar McHar will call the opening signals for the Cardinals. His support will come from veteran halfbacks Ollie Matson and Dave Mann and fullback Johnny Olzewski.

The Cardinals' only triumph to date was a 20-17 win over the Detroit Lions.

Carter Holds Edge in TV Fight Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—Harold Carter, a 22-year-old Sunday School teacher from Linden, N.J., is favored at 13-10 over Johnny Summerlin of Detroit in tonight's nationally-televized fight at Madison Square Garden between well-rated heavy-weight contenders.

The fight will be both televised and broadcast at 10 p.m. EDT, over NBC networks.

Carter rates as the favorite even though Summerlin won a decision over him when they last fought at Detroit on May 23. That was a grueling fight and Summerlin won it only by putting on a savage body attack in the late rounds.

Rosi Late, Bout In L.A. Cancelled

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Italy's Paolo Rosi failed to arrive here from New York Thursday and as a result his scheduled 10-round bout against Lauro Salas next Tuesday night at Olympic Auditorium was cancelled.

Olympic promoter Cal Eaton said the leading lightweight contender changed his plans and would not arrive here until this afternoon. Eaton said he was forced to cancel the bout because Rosi would not have enough time to be processed and obtain state Athletic Commission approval by Tuesday.

Roberts Stars in SC Practice

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Fullback C. R. Roberts was the standout Thursday as Southern California devoted most of a light scrimmage to the passing game.

Ellsworth Kissing and Frank Hall were tossing the pigskin and Roberts would break into the clear almost every time he received a short pass.

All-America halfback Jon Arnett missed the drill because of a slight back injury, but he was expected to be back in action by next Monday.

Finalists Set

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP)—St. Louis and New Orleans were pitted against each other today in the American Legion Little World Series finals.

Palm House Wins Playoffs; League Trophies Given

The Palm House made a clean sweep of the Desert Softball League regular season and the post-season Playoffs by completely outplaying the Mexican Colony Thursday night to win 8 to 1, and capture the championship Playoff series in two straight games.

Paul Nielson again pitched his usual outstanding game, allowing only four hits. He had two hits himself, and Jimmy Judd, most valuable player of the league, hit the longest home of the season in the sixth inning.

The Mexican Colony took a 1 to 0 lead in the first inning which held until the fourth when the Palm House scored two runs.

During the game, trophies were presented for regular season play, with Howard Haddock, city recreation superintendent, acting as master of ceremonies.

Mayor Florian Boyd presented the league championship trophy to Red Kean the manager of the Palm House.

City Manager R. W. Peterson presented the most valuable player award to Jimmy Judd of the Palm House.

Jimmy Cooper, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, presented the Batting Championship award to Sid Canales in the absence of Ben Prieto, the Batting Champion of 1956.

Earl Hough, Chamber of Commerce president, presented the Elk's trophy to Herb Rauch, manager of the Elks Colt League team.

Dr. Wallace Mueider, superintendent of schools, presented the Outstanding Sportsmanship award trophy to Paul Nielson of the Palm House. He has won it two years straight.

Carl Plate, Youth Center director, and Bill Brubaker, Little League Commissioner, each presented seven individual trophies to the winning players of the Palm House.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The UCLA Bruins staged a contact drill Thursday in which halfback Chuck Holloway and tailback Doug Bradley showed good form in breaking away for long gains.

College of Pacific Fans Look To Great Season With Bass

(Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of articles dealing with the 1956 prospects of West Coast college football)

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—College of Pacific lost 16 lettermen from the 1955 team that won four and lost five games, but the enthusiasm for the 1956 squad knows no bounds.

Only eight lettermen are returning, but a sensational half-back by the name of Dick Bass has been so highly publicized that the fans and the student body hardly can wait to see the young Vallejo, Calif., speedster in action. "This is the best talent I've had in my four years at College of Pacific," says Head Coach Jack Moose Myers. "However, we lack experience and that may work against us."

BASS HAS AVERAGED three touchdowns per game during his high school and college freshman years—and Myers predicts that he may do just as well in the big time.

What may help the Tiger record this year is a schedule that is considerably weaker than the one the club had to face last season. On the 1955 slate were such teams as Stanford, Purdue, UCLA, Cincinnati, Texas Tech. and Oregon State.

This year the team starts off against Colorado A&M, Kansas and Cincinnati.

Dodgers Defy Doubleheader Jinx Tonight

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer

The Brooklyn Dodgers defied their "doubleheader jinx" today and said they would gladly play two games anytime just to have Roy Campanella back in the lineup.

Ordinarily, the Dodgers would be crying over the rain that washed out Thursday night's game against the New York Giants and forced them to schedule a two-night doubleheader for tonight. The Bums are a poor twin bill team, the record book insists.

Here are the figures:

BROOKLYN HAS PLAYED 17 doubleheaders this year—sweeping five, dropping six, and splitting six—a total of 16 games won and 18 lost. That indicates they probably will lose at least one game tonight.

But Campy, the National League's "Most Valuable Player" last year, is better than statistics, the Dodgers feel. Roy would have missed Thursday night's game because of a bruised right index finger, and his bat would have been missed against Giant southpaw Johnny Antonelli.

But now Campanella will be able to face Antonelli tonight and catch both games. This could balance out the break given the Milwaukee Braves by an off day Thursday, that enabled slugger Eddie Mathews to rest his injured ankle an extra 24 hours.

THE DODGERS-GIANTS fray was the only action scheduled Thursday involving a pennant contender in either league.

In the only two games played Thursday, the Washington Senators scored six runs in the fifth inning to beat the Baltimore Orioles, 7-5, and pitcher Frank Lary of the Detroit Tigers pitched a four-hitter to shut out the Kansas City A's, 6-0.

Three Oriole pitchers were battered in the Senators' big inning, which included a three-run homer by Jose Valdivielso. Eddie Yost of the Senators set a club record by drawing his 142nd walk of the season and pitcher Dean Stone gained the victory, although he allowed 13 of the Orioles' 14 hits.

Lary fanned four and did not walk a man. He was backed up by homers by Ray Boone, Bob Wilson, Wayne Belardi, and Charley Maxwell.

Arrogate Sets Track Record

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Arrogate set a new track record for the mile and a sixteenth at the California State Fair and Exposition Thursday to win the Governor's Handicap by a length and a quarter over Gypsy Rover.

Alston to Return

BROOKLYN (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodger front office, by silent endorsement, made it plain today that Walter Alston would be back as manager next year, no matter how the team finishes in the current race.
